2 Corporation (“Volterra”) (collectively “the Parties”) have conferred by and through their counsel
3 and, subject to the Court’s approval, HEREBY STIPULATE AS FOLLOWS:

4 WHEREAS, the Parties in the above-captioned case are also parties to the case captioned
5 Volterra Semiconductor Corporation v. Primarion, Inc. et al., United States District Court,
6 Northern District of California, Case No. C 08-05129 (CRB) (“Volterra v. Primarion”) and are
7 represented by the same counsel in these matters;

8 WHEREAS, a Stipulated Protective Order was previously entered in the Volterra v.
9 Primarion case on May 5, 2009 (Docket No. 76) (the “Protective Order”);

10 WHEREAS, on September 11, 2012, Judge Spero entered an order (Docket No. 1820)
11 adding the following language to the Protective Order: “Nothing in this Order shall be constructed
12 to forbid the disclosure of any Protected Material during discovery in case 3:11-cv-6239-MMC
13 (DMR), if so ordered by any judge in that case”;

14 WHEREAS, for administrative convenience, the parties agree that certain materials from 15 the Volterra v. Primarion case may be used in this case without requiring the re-production of 16 those materials; and

17 WHEREAS, the parties agree that this agreement is not intended in any way to alter the 18 scope of discovery appropriate for this action;

19 In view of the foregoing, the Parties STIPULATE:

20 1. The Protective Order entered in the Volterra v. Primarion case shall not bar the

22 corresponding confidentiality protections provided in the Stipulated Protective
23 Order entered in this case on July 17, 2012 (Docket No. 104):

- 25 • interrogatories and responses;
- 26 • requests for admissions and responses;
- 27
- 28

- document productions and privilege logs;¹

- pleadings (including exhibits and attachments);
- testimony (including deposition testimony, trial testimony, affidavits and declarations);
- trial transcripts, demonstratives and exhibits; and

2. Neither party shall be required to re-produce materials that are the subject of Paragraph 1 in this lawsuit.
3. By entering into this Stipulation, neither side is waiving any objections to the discoverability, relevance, or admissibility of any of the materials that are the subject of Paragraph 1.
4. By entering into this Stipulation, neither side is waiving the right to request to add additional materials to Paragraph 1.
5. Finally, the parties agree that this Stipulation does not allow the parties to seek, obtain, or use information beyond that which would otherwise be relevant and discoverable in this action (including, e.g., that it does not permit the use of discovery or information about or relating to products other than those timely and properly accused in Infineon's infringement contentions), and does not excuse

¹ The parties acknowledge that certain documents produced in the Volterra v. Primarion case may be subject to third party confidentiality obligations. 1 either side from complying with its discovery obligations in this case. The parties
2 further agree that this Stipulation does not reflect an agreement that all relevant

5 Primarion case was proper or relevant.
